A GREAT DAY ON THE PASSAIC. LEE THE WINNER IN THE SENIOR SINGLE-SCULL RACE-ALBANY, NEWARK, NEW-ORLEANS, AND

MONROE, MICH. CARRY OFF THE PRIZES. The two days' races of the sixth annual regatta of the National Amateur Oarsmen's Association were completed vesterday on the Passaic River, Newark. The crowds were at least one-third greater than on Tuesday, when it was estimated that about 40,000 people were present. The trains from New-York and Philadelphia were bringing large numbers of spectators to the races until noon. All the morning the streets leading to the banks of the river were crowded with pedestrians, and horse-cars and vehicles of every description added large numbers to the great assem-Clark's thread works, with 1,500 employés, and many other establishments, closed at noon to their workmen to witness the races. Though the crowd was so great, not a disorderly person was to be seen. The day was sunny but not sultry, a good breeze tempering the heat and making the water slightly rough. the afternoon there were two or three hard showers, but as they occurred between the races it did not interfere with the contests.

The first four races of the day were the four heats of the four-oars, the entries being too great to permit them to be all rowed at once. The first heat was between the Hope Club, of New-Orleans, and the Mutuals, of Albany. The latter were the favorites from the first. They took the water first, rowing forty-four strokes a minute to forty-two for the Hopes. The latter steered wildly, and gave the Mutuals the lead on the first half mile, which was increased until the finish to six lengths, the Hopes running into the Grand Stand. The Mutuals' time was

The second heat was between the Eurekas, of Newark, the Elizabeth Club, from Portsmouth, Va., and the Friendships, of New-York. The Eurekas took the water first, but the Ehzabeths robbed them of the lead for the first half mile, the Friendships lagging. At the mile stake the Eurekas had made a slight lead, but the boat of the Elizabeths by bad steering ran into and broke the Eurekas' rudder. Both boats kept ou, and at the fluish the Eurekas were only three-quarters of a length ahead, with the Friendships a dozen lengths behind. Their time was: Eureka, 9:014; Elizabeth, 9:0214; Friendship, 9:38

The third heat brought out the Olympics, of Albany, Zephyrs, of Detroit, and Saugerties, of Saugerties, taking position in the order named. The Zephyrs took the water first, the Olympics getting a slight lead, but all well together for the first half mile, when the Zephyrs were left behind. When just below the half-mile station, Oliver, of the Zephyrs, caught a " crab," and broke his oar. Off the Triton Club-house the Saugertles crew fouled with the Olympics, who had their water. The Olympics stopped rowing, and the Saugerties kept on, crossing the finish in 9:12, with the Zephyrs second The foul was decided to be the fault of the Olympic

The fourth heat of the four-oars was between the Longuenils, of Montreal, the Centennials, of Detroit,

The fourth heat of the four-oars was between the Longuenis, of Montreal, the Centenuials, of Detroit, and the Arlingtons, of Brooklyn. The crews got off together, but the Canadians fouled with the Centenuial crew before going lifty yards, when all the crews were recalled for a restart. The Arlingtons did not heed the referee, and were therefore disqualified. The other two crews were started, when another slight foul occurred. The Centennials took the lead, and fluished seven lengths anead in 8:5834.

Then came the final heat of the junior sculls between George Bowlesby, ir., of the Amateur, of Monroe, Michigan, F. Campbell, Eureka, Newark, and R. W. Morgan, Potomae, Georgetown, D. C. Campbell took the lead, rowing a slow stroke of twenty-nine a minute. Bowlesby was rowing about thirty-one, and keeping well up, while Morgan was four lengths behind on the first half mile, and drouped out before rowing a mile. At the mile stake Bowlesby pulled ahead, when Campbell lucroased his stroke'to thirty-two. Bowlesby caught a "crab" just before the fluish, but as he was a half dozon lengths ahead of Campbell, he recovered himself in time to win yield lengths. Bowlesby's time was 9:40. He was heartily cheered by the spectators.

In the final heat of the senior-single sculls were entered G. W. Lee, Titton, Newark, who rowed in the recent Henley regattat: R. W. Ratthone, New York Athletics; H. MeMilhan, Vesper, Philadelniha; and F. J. Mumiord, Perseverance, New-Orleans, champion of the South. They took post ions in the order named, and Lee got the water first and took the lead, with Rathbone following closely. The greatest interest was centred in these two men, and the chances for a time seemed equally divided. The former was pulling a stroke of twenty-nine, and the latter thirty-six. Lee led a length at the half mile and continued to gain. There was great cheering all along the banks of the river, and at the faish there was a general outburst of applause. Lee beat Rathbone by five lengths, McMillan by nine, and Mumford by fo

In 8:37%. Both shores sent up cheers for the Southern crew.

By far the most exciting race of the day was the last, and resulted in the Eureka's defeat by the Mutuals in the final heat of the four-oars. The following crews contested: Eureka, Centennial, Mutual and Saugerties, taking position in the order named. Large wagers had been made on the result of the race, the Eurekas standing high in the pools, and their defeat was a great disappointment to Newark men. The Eurekas and Mutuals led at the start, and the former had a lead of a half length at the first half mile. The Mutuals soon took the lead, however, and when half way down were two lengths ahead. The Saugerties now eame up with the Mutuals and fouled. This allowed the Eurekas to creep up, which was appreciated by the crowds along the banks, and on the several stands and club-houses. The Mutuals recovered themselves, and shot ahead, crossing the line first, three lengths ahead of the Saugerties, and twice that distance ahead of the Eurekas, the Centennials running into the stands and cidn-houses. The saturals recovered teemselves, and shot ahend, crossing the line first, three lengths shead of the Saugerties, and twice that distance ahead of the Eurekas, the Centennials running into the grand stand. The defeat was taken kindly by the Eurekas, who sent up the first cheer for the victors, which was followed by a similar outburst from the shores. A great deal of money changed hands privately, and the pools mad $24 50.

Themas Dunn and William Henry were committed to the County Jail yesterday for trial for selling pools and running a roulette table at the regatta.

The prizes won in the two days' races were presented last night by Congressman T. B. Peddle, at the Park Hall, Newark. When Powers and O'Donnell, of New-Orleans, appeared, they were greeted with cheers, while the hand played "Dixie." Messrs. Grane and Keanedy, of the Regatta Committee, made short addressos. The prizes were awarded as follows: G. Howlesby, Annateur Club, Michigan, Junior sculis; G. W. Lee, Triton Club,
Newark, senior sculis; P. Powers and J. O'Donuell, Hope Club, New-Orieans, doubte-sculis; F. E. Bulger,
and H. C. Graves, Mutual Club, Albany, pair-oared; H.
C. Graves, F. E. Bulger, Annam Mull and R. I. Wilson, Mutual Club, Albany, four-oared.

Besides the challenge plates, which are held by each winning crew for the year, and the bunners, there were ten gold medals of elegant design and finish. Four of these were for the winners in the four-oared race, viz.
F. E. Bulger, H. C. Graves, Abram Mull and R. I.
Wilson. These are the shape and size of a $50 gold piece, anapended from two bars. They are of Roman gold with the words, "National Association of Amateur Oarsmen." A boat-hook, trideat, ropes, etc., wrongit in gold and plattna, complete the design. The prize for the senior single-sculi is like this, with the substitution of the words "singie-sculi," and two sculis crossed on the upper bar. The prizes for the pair-oared, single and double-sculis, differ,
they are a partial affit by the manufacture

LOCAL MISCELLANY.

CHARGED WITH HIDEOUS CRIMES. FATHER ARRAIGNED ON THE COMPLAINT OF HIS TWO DAUGHTERS-THRY ACCUSE HIM OF DRIV-ING THEM INTO A LIFE OF SHAME.

Charles Gryner, a German tailor, was arrested on Monday at his home, No. 315 West Thirtyfifth-st., on a warrant issued by Justice Murray, charging him with criminal relations with his three eldest daughters and with forcing them to lead a life of shame. Several weeks ago Gryner caused the arrest of his oldest daughter, Lizzie, age ulucteen, for disobedience and derly conduct. She then accused her father of seducing her and forcing her into a disorderly house. Gryner, who is a respectable looking man, denied the girl's story, and was disc arged, as the Justice refused to believe him capable of so monstrous a crime. On Monday last, two other daughters, Emma, sixteen years old, and Amelia, age fifteen, made a complaint to Justice Murray, similar in all its hideous details to the story told by their sister. The Justice issued a warrant for Gryner's arrest, and he was locked up on Tuesday night in the Charles Street Station.

Yesterday Gryner was brought before Judge Murray, at the Jefferson Market Court, and his daughters Emma and Amelia appeared against They made affidavits that their father had lived in improper relations with them, and that he had lured the youngest into a disorderly house in Twentylured the youngest into a disorderly house in Twentyeighth-st., and ruined her. They said that he wished them, by leading a life of shame, to aid in supporting the family. Because they had refused to do this he had driven them away from home. Gryner acknowledged that he knew the house the girls referred to, and he admitted receiving money from them. In default of $10, 000 bail justice Marray committed him to prison, and the girls were placed where they could be cared for.

In the Jefferson Market Prison, last evening, Gryner looked like a bunted beast at bay. He is about fortyitve years old, with a sprinking of gray hair, and no beard. He glared wildly at any one who approached his door, and his hands trembled as though with palsy. He spoke an unintelligible gibbersh, which was neither German nor English, and a fellow-prisoner had to act as interpreter. He said that his trouoles began eight years ago, when his wife was sent to the lunatic asylum. As interpreter. He said that his troubles began eight years ago, when his wife was sent to the innatic asylum. As als daughters grew up they would not work. They would go out at night and not come back until midnight, and they reways had money and fine dresses. He knew they were leading a bad life. He tried to get them to live with him unless they worked honestly. After telling them this he came back to his house to find that an officer was waiting to arrest him on a false charge. The neighbors of Mr. Gryner testified to the quiet disposition of his two daughters and his brutal treatment of them. The oldest girl, Luzzie, does not live at home.

THE HOTEL BRIGHTON MANAGEMENT.

THE RUMORS OF A DISAGREEMENT DESIED. THE TRIBUNE of August 20 stated that ru mors were affoat to the effect that there were difficulties pending between the Brooklyn, Flatbush and Coney Island Railroad, and Messrs. Broslin & Sweet, the lessies of the Brighton Beach Hotel; and also that there was not perfect harmony in the firm itself. Messrs. Breslin & Sweet, and various officers of the railroad, denied these rumors in general terms, and these denials THE TRIBUNE blished at the same time that it gave currency to the rumors. In a communication to THE TRIBUNE of yesterday's date, the hotel proprietors make further nial of these reports in specific lauguage. They write:

The facts are briefly as follows:
1. The furniture of the Hotel Brighton was purchased by Messrs. Breslin & Sweet for each, and cash was paid for every article of the furniture.
2. Each member of the firm paid in cash one-half of the purchase price thereof.
3. No note or written obligation of any description has

A MARRIAGE IN THE SMALL HOURS.

Two well-dressed men entered the First Precinct Police Station-house, Jersey City, at 1 a.m. yesterday. One asked Sergeant Findley if he could ummon a minister or justice of the peace, as a couple at Taylor's Hotel wished to get married. The sergeant at Taylor's Hotel wished to get married. The sergeant sont an officer for Justice Whelan. One of the men said he was Henry G. Harris, a lawyer of Philadelphia. At the sergeant's deak, he took from his pocket what he said was the will of his companion, William H. C. De Vere, the bridegroom. Mr. De Vere signed the paper, and Sergeant Wilson signed it. Mr. De Vere said he willed an income to his prospective wife of $10,000 a year, in case of his death.

Justice Whelan went to Taylor's Hotel and found the bride in the parlor. The ceremony was then performed. The bridegroom gaves his residence as Holland, but said that in this country he had spent most of his time in New York. The bride's name was given as Elizabeth B. Ogden, of Keyport, N. J. The couple then drove away in a coach. Mr. Harris said that they would sail to-day for Europe ou the steamer Abvastnia. He said that Mr. De Vere was a member of a wealthy family of Holland, and has an income of $10.000 a vear. Mrs. De Vere, he said, was the only daughter of a wealthy femileral posed the marriage, and so they cloped.

DISCUSSING PAYMENTS FOR THE BRIDGE. Controller Burrill, of Brooklyn, stated yesterday that he was willing only to furnish the trustees of the East River Bridge with the money that may be necessary to protect the work already done. He has not yet reached any conclusion as to whether he will favor paying the full amount of the requisition, under existing erreumstances. At the recent conference with the Mayor, in regard to the requisition for $1,000,000, the latter strongly favored Brooklyn's issuing the full amount of her share of the bonds, under the Act of 1875, regardless of New-York's refusal. The Controller favored taking the matter in the courts. A part of the necessary bonds will be issued about September 15, but the amount is not yet decided upon.

THE CURRIER-PHELPS SCANDAL DR. CURRIER DENIES THAT HE HAS ELOPED WITH

ANOTHER MAN'S WIFE. An account was lately published to the effect that Dr. Charles B. Currier, of No. 972 Lexington-ave, had fied to Europe with the wife of John F. Phelps, a neighbor, the doctor at the same time abandoning his wife. The story was told in great detail, and was made to appear as based upon the evidence of Mrs. Currier, who, while exposing her husband, still clung to the hope that he was innocent, and was maligned, and would certainly return. Suspicions were aroused by the vehe mence with which Mrs. Currier insisted that her husband had not left the country that such was the fact, and the statements were given with great care. The suspicions proved correct. Yesterday Dr. Currier returned to the city from a professional visit to Vermout. and left at THE TRIBUNE Office the following card: To the Editor of The Tribune.

To the Editor of The Tribune.

Sir: On Wednesday, August 14, you published certain statements concerning me, and now I request that you will give equal prominence and publicity to this letter. I also sincerely hope that the other papers which have so liberally copled your article will do me the justice to copy this denial. I have not eloped with another man's wife, neither have I ever entertained any such thought. I have not seen the lady in question for months, nor do I know where she is. I have left my wife forever, and for good and sufficient reasons. These reasons are of long standing, and are well known to myself and to my intimate friends, many of whom are relatives of Mirs. Currier. Pecuniary embarrassment has nothing to do with my absence from my home and practice. Instead of leaving my wife destinate, she is by me went provided for, and any statements to the contrary are "as false as dicers" oaths." I have not carried away anything—either money or valuable articles—belonging to my wife, and she knows it. I had contemplated a trip to Europe, intending that it would be a final separation from my wife. This, however, for her sake, and for the sake of her relatives, I was desirous should be as private as possible. My preparations were completed when I had a call to attend an important surgical case on a very dear triend in Vermont (see St. Albams Daily Messenger, Saturday, August 17, 1878). This fortunately delayed my departure, when suddenly I found myself conironted with these published scandals in regard to me. I am now here in person. I have left my wife. That is true. Yours, etc.,

**New-York, Aug. 21, 1878.**

Investigation of this scandal shows very conclusively.** New-York, Aug. 21, 1878.

Investigation of this scandal shows very conclusively that it was originated by friends of Mr. Pheips, through a disreputable reporter named H. A. Ely, who imposed the story on several papers, though employed to write it the story on several papers, though employed to write it up only by one journal. Very adroitly the story was made to appear on the authority of Mrs. Currier, who, it appears, is not responsible at times for what she utters. Mr. Phelps was yesterday very officious in efforts to injure the reputation of his own wife; Dr. Currier, on the other hand, was anxious to conceal any railing of Mrs. Currier. The entire scandal appears to have been misrepresented and exaggerated by mischievous persons.

W. T. VAN ZANDI ARRESTED ON AN ACCUSATION

NADE BY AN EMPLOYE WHO HAD CONFESSED

William T. Van Zandt, president of the Asbestos Fireproofing Company, who was arrested it this city on Monday on the charge of arson, the com plaint being made by one Howard, employed by him, in dignantly denied yesterday the charge, and ascribed it to wilful and malicious persecution. Mr. Van Zandt is to wilful and malicious persecution. Mr. Van Zandt is reputed to be a very wealthy man, owning real estate and other property to the amount of $1,000,000. His office is at No. 319 Broadway, Room 14.

It was reported at the Police Central Office on August 17, that a robberly had been committed at Mr. Van Zandt's office, and the case was turned over to Detective Owen Haley for investigation. His visit to Mr. Van Zandt's office resulted in the arrest of Howard, who had keys to the office. At first he stoutly desired the charge, but subsequently it was said that Mr. Van Zandt told the prisoner that if he would return the money he would be deait with leulently. Afterward, it is stated, Howard offered the officer a valuable shawl if he would release him. Mr. Van Zandt declined to make any charge at court against Howard, who was then discharged.

Haley, however, followed Howard and obtained from recease at court against Howard, who was then discharged.

Haley, however, followed Howard and obtained from him, it is asserted, a statement that Mr. Van Zandt had burned one of his own houses on Staten Island, and that it was this knowledge that prevented Mr. Van Zandt from prosecuting him. Howard was taken to Staten Island, where he made a statement before the District-Attorney that he was employed last May by Mr. Van Zandt to work in one of the latter's houses on Bard-ave., Castleton. Mr. Van Zandt and his sister-in-aw one day carried a lot of books to the garet and saturated them with kerosene oil. They then procured candles, which they placed near the books, in such a position that when they burned down to a certain level they would set fire to the books. They then lighted the candles and left the house, and the same night the building was burned down. Haley next ascertained that Mr. Van Zandt had insured his house and furniture for $11,000. Mr. Van Zandt was indicted by the Grand Jury for arson and arrested. He was taken to Saten Island, where Justice Johnson held him in $5,000 bail to appear on August 27. Bartlett Brown, of Castleton, became his bondsman.

A committee was appointed to recommend circular prices for September. This action was taken, it is said, for the purpose of forcing all the companies in the combination to advance rates on coal, and the committee decided to report in favor of an advance of 25 to 30 cents at the combination of advance rates on coal, and the committee decided to report in favor of an advance of 25 to 30 cents at the combination of the purpose of the combination of the suggestions of the committee, and yesterday issued its circular for September, the prices being the same as for the month of August. At the company's office it was stated that the Lebigh Valley Company claimed and would exercise the right valley Company claimed and no advance in prices could be reasonably hoped for until the support of the support of the combination might stagest or advise.

A member of the Board of Control said that it was decided that the output for September associated with coal and no advance in prices could be reasonably hoped for until the support of the combination and well and the combination and the support of the combination and well and the combination and the support of the combination

THE ALLEGED SUGAR FRAUDS.

Special Treasury Agents Chamberlain and Keys, who are investigating alleged frauds in the samp-ling and classification of sugars, have been given notice that the chief of the department at Washington will come here to assist in the investigation and take such action in behalf of the Government as may be war-ranted. It is reported that the chemical tests will be submitted in a few days, not based on present exporta-tions, but on the full samples of old shipments.

DANGER FROM DEMAGOGUES.

LONDON, Wednesday, Aug. 21, 1878. In an article on Butler, Kearney, and the Greenback movement, The Times says : "It might become a serious danger to the Republic, if it were possible for the discontented and ignorant masses who have attached thomselves to it to "pool their issues" and combine against capital. There are practically no limits in a democratic country to the power of a majority driven by strong passions; and inandresis of thousands of workingmen who have felt the pinch of hard times, and been thrown out of work or had to subsist on lower wages, are urged by the most powerful forces to come together, as Kearney puts it, for bread and butter. But it is doubtful whether those who rave most wildly against society are not as firmly wedded, each of them, to his own theories of reconstruction, as the most superstitutes fanatics of the Old World creeds." The Times then briefly summarizes the proceedings before Congressman Hewitt's committee, and concludes as follows: "The United States would have more to fear from the Buthers and Kearneys if their followers were less passionate, lessignorant of the practical limitations of political action, and less torn by internal jealousies." ome a serious danger to the Republic, if it were possible of the world, arrived by the steamship Bothnia Tuesday, at 10:30 p. m., and is staying at the Astor House. Mr. Collins, his agent, said that evening, that he had written an answer to the charges of Dr. Carver against Captain Bogardus. and all the challenges of the Doctor would be considered and all the challenges of the Doctor would be considered in their order. "Some of these challenges," Mr. Collins said, "are not in Captain Bogardus's line; but the Doctor will probably get all he wants before a great while. Captain Bogardus has accepted Dr. Carver's challenge to shoot for $250, eight hours, Carver to use a rifle, Bogardus a shot-gun, each man to use only one gun. The Captain proposes to shoot for $5,000, and to meet the Doctor and put up a forfeit of $1,000." Dr. Carver was also at the Astor House Wednesday night.

TRYING TO ARRANGE A SHOUTING MATCH Captain Bogardus, the champion wing shot

It had been expected that a match would be arranged vesterday. Upon inquiry it was ascertained that Captain Bogardus was present at the time and place said to have been appointed for the meeting, but that Dr. Carver did not appear. The latter, however, issued a challenge for three pigeon matches and one glass ball match. It is said that both marksmen have made offers to shoot matches, but that to the present time none of them have been accepted. There seems to be some doubt whether a match can be arranged on terms satisfactory to both men. Fersons interested in the sport are said to be anxious to have the match atranged, if possible, upon any terms that can be made agreeable to the marksmen.

THE KIMPTON INQUIRY.

THE CASE CLOSED FOR THE RESPONDENT. Boston, Aug. 21 .- The hearing in the Kimpton case was continued to-day, and arguments were made by Judge Abbot, ex-Governor Chamberlain Mr. Porter, of New-York, and Mr. Hyde, who closed the case for the respondent, when the hearing was adourned till to-morrow. Hiram H. Kimpton was examined yesterday, and testified that about July 10 he met Henry A. Mitts and Thomas S. Cavender, clerk for the counsel of South Carolina, and had a conversation about getting evidence in the bond suits, and agreed to give his testimony if he could have immunity from prosecution. He was informed that Mitts had authority to ofter him immunity. He also testified that he afterward learned that he would be subjected to civil suits if he went to South Carolina, and that if he testified voluntarily it would damage him in New-York. He was willing, however, to testified that about July 10 he met Henry A. Mitts and have his testimony taken on a subperna. Immunity was then extended for one day. After his arrest, witness received a letter from Mitts stating that if he did not comply with the request of governor Hampton, all immunity from prosecution would be at an end. He subsequently received a letter informing him that his arrest was not in consequence of his refusal to accept the proposition of counsel for South Carolina. The witness said there is no one except himself and Randall, his clerk, who can give the State of Fonta Carolina the desired information.

In cross-examination by Attorney-General You mana, the witness said the only reason for his not wishing to go to South Carolina was on account of civil suits which might be brought against him.
